EXTRADITION OF FREED NEGRO IS
PLAN OF KELLER

Wants the Alleged Slayer
Returned To Jurisdiction Of Court

County Judge William L. Leech conferred with State's Attorney Mark C. Keller this morning requesting that action be taken to secure the return of Nathaniel Moten, St. Louis Negro to the jurisdiction of the Lee County courts. State's Attorney Keller immediately communicated by long distance telephone with Curtis H. Lohr, Commissioner of Hospitals at St. Louis. According to the statement of Commissioner Lohr he was the recipient of a letter on April 6 from F. D. McKenney, State Deportation Agent of the Illinois Department of Public Welfare, setting forth Moten's record at the East Moline state hospital, and stating that due to the fact that Moten had not been a resident of Illinois for a period of one year, that he was a charge of St. Louis, where he made his residence. The letter did not contain a criminal history. Commissioner Lohr told State's Attorney Keller, and acting upon the case, Deportation Agent McKenney was notified that St. Louis would receive the subject at the expense of the Illinois Department of Public Welfare.

No Record of History.
No record of Moten's criminal history was made known to the St. Louis commission until learning of the resentment resulting from his discharge from the East Moline hospital by Lee County authorities. Commissioner Lohr in his conversation with State's Attorney Keller stated that his commission was not resisting Moten's return to the jurisdiction of the Illinois courts and that he would gladly return him to the East Moline state hospital, at the expense of the Illinois department.

In considering the institution of extradition proceedings to bring Moten back to Illinois as a fugitive from justice, State's Attorney Keller announced that he would immediately confer with State Deportation Agent McKenney and request the return of Moten to an Illinois institution, he being at the present time under indictment in Lee County on a charge of murder, setting forth that Moten was illegally removed from the jurisdiction of the Illinois courts. According to Commissioner Lohr at St. Louis, Moten is now confined in the observation ward at the St. Louis hospital.

Sees Advertising
On Upward Trend

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Samuel H. Weston, expert on newspaper operation, said today that for the first time in 1929 advertising had shown a slight upward trend, and he expressed the opinion that this was a hopeful sign for forthcoming general improvement.

One reason expressed for this outlook was that in April classified advertising volume started distinctly upwards as compared with the first two months of the year.

"This has been followed in a lesser degree by total advertising," he said. "If this index works in the future as it has in the past, it indicates there will be a slow but steady increase in total advertising volume."

It was Mr. Weston's belief that in March "bottom" appeared to have been reached and that advertising underwent a flattening out process early in April, starting on an upward movement before the close of that month.

Paulos Held Cause
Miss Smith's Death

Hammond, Ind., June 4.—(AP)—Dr. Andrew Hofmann, Lake County Coroner, ruled today that Miss Dorothy Smith, 19-year-old Chicago girl, was killed May 15 by an automobile "recklessly and carelessly driven" by Nick Paulos, 34, merchant, living at 1340 E. 55th st., Chicago. Paulos already is under $5,000 bond on a manslaughter charge.

The dead girl's sister, Josephine, 22, told of the accident at the Coroner's inquest. The sisters, formerly of Dixon, Ill., had started on a vacation hitch-hiking toward Ohio when the Paulos automobile swerved up on the sidewalk, knocked both girls down and hit a telephone pole. Josephine was in a hospital ten days.

Society Woman Is Held For Slaying

London, June 4.—(AP)—Mrs. E. vira Dolores Barney, beautiful young London society woman, collapsed in Westminster police court today when she was formally charged with the slaying last Tuesday of Thomas William Scott Stephen, 26-year-old socially prominent Londoner.

The young woman, daughter of Sir John Mullens, wealthy London stockbroker, was arrested last night. Stephen was shot and killed following a cocktail party in her West End apartment early last week.

She is the former wife of John P. Scott, an American financier, and was once a London actress.

VICIOUS DIXON
BOY IS SENT TO TRAIN'G SCHOOL

John Greenfield, Age
14, Attempted Assault On Woman

John R. Greenfield, aged 14, of this city, was committed to the St. Charles State Training School for boys yesterday afternoon by County Judge William Leech and was immediately delivered to that institution by Sheriff Fred Richardson. Greenfield was arrested by Chief Van Buren of the police department early yesterday afternoon when the police were notified that the youth had attempted a bold daylight assault upon a teacher in the Dixon grade schools.

The young woman was on her way to her school when Greenfield is reported to have attempted an assault and was resisted when he was beaten with an umbrella carried by the teacher. When taken into custody, he was immediately identified and is said to have admitted the attempted attack.

Greenfield was placed on probation by Judge Leech in the County Court Thursday afternoon and in less than 24 hours was rearrested for the attempted assault. Within two hours after his arrest he was committed to the St. Charles school for violation of his parole.

PRIZES AWARDED IN FIRST FLOWER
SHOW HELD HERE

Success Of Show Leads
Promoters To Plan
Exhibit In Fall

The first annual flower show which opened last evening at the Elks club house was truly, "the talk of the town" today. Every available foot of space in the spacious hall is crowded with exhibits of flower growers residing in Dixon and community. The show attracted a very large attendance last evening between the hours of 7 and 10 o'clock.

The special showing for the benefit of children of school age between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock this morning drew another large crowd of youngsters. The show opened again at 1 o'clock this afternoon and will continue until 11 o'clock this evening. Sunday afternoon the show will continue between the hours of 1 and 6 o'clock. Monday morning all flowers not claimed by exhibitors will be taken to the Dixon public hospital and the Dixon state hospital for distribution.

The success of the opening day of the show has brought numerous requests for its being repeated this fall, when many more varieties of flowers will be available for display purposes. The committee in charge had planned to make the show an annual affair, but in response to requests, announced this morning that a fall show would be held. Exalted Ruler Robert L. Warner, who in behalf of the Dixon lodge of Elks, sponsored the show will appoint the committees for the fall display within a few days.

The judges spent all of yesterday afternoon in awarding the prizes for the various exhibits. Mrs. Willis Fry, matron at the County home near Eldena, presented a beautiful display of spring flowers but would not permit her exhibit to be entered in competition, she being selected as one of the judges.

Four commercial exhibitors presented wonderful displays of poeasies and iris as follows: X. F. Gehant, Charles Hey, the Keithley Gardens and Sam Bondi. Beautiful displays of poeasies from the Reynoldswood farms and iris from the Walgreen Hazelwood estate were entered in competition. LINDY'S HOAXER
ENTERS PLEA OF
NOT GUILTY TODAY

John Curtis' Trial Set
For June 27: Seemed To Enjoy Court

BULLETIN
New York, June 4.—(AP)—After the liner Ile de France sailed today reports circulated that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife were among the passengers, but these reports were denied at the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, in Englewood, N. J.

Flemington, N. J., June 4.—(AP)—John Hughes Curtis entered a plea of not guilty today to an indictment charging him with hindering capture of the kidnap-murderer of the Lindbergh baby. Trial was set for June 27.

Curtis, who pleaded not guilty despite his own confession to police, entered court dressed in a dark blue suit. He seemed entirely unconcerned and there was a faint smile on his face as he looked directly at the judge. He waived reading of the indictment and was remanded to jail in lieu of bail.

Curtis was in the courtroom less than three minutes.

The indictment, reading of which, as a preliminary to his plea he waived, charged that he wilfully gave false information and hindered arrest of the kidnapers.

It recited that he perpetrated his hoax of imaginary negotiations for return of the murdered baby "with force and arms." This was understood, however, to be merely customary legal phraseology and not to indicate any belief that Curtis had actually carried out his hoax by physical force and threats rather than by precept.

Rejected Suitor
Shoots Girl, Self

Chicago, June 4.—(AP)—A rejected suitor intruded on an art exhibition last night, shot and seriously wounded Miss Dorothy B. Smith, 21-year-old art student, and killed himself.

The young woman was showing a painting she had created to some of her friends when Theodore Caldwell, 26, a former university student, called her away and fired two bullets into her body.

He turned the pistol on himself and died almost instantly of a bullet wound through the temple. "This was one of those crazy love affairs," Miss Smith told the police en route to the hospital. "He had threatened to kill himself and I guess he did. Physicians said she may live."

HAUSNERSAILING
ADVENTURE NOW

Nothing Heard From
Flier Since Early
Last Evening

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Stanislaus Hausner sailed today the route of high adventure—the airway over the Atlantic from New York to Europe.

Since 5 o'clock last night, Eastern Standard Time, there has been no word of his progress. He had no wireless, and the only possibility of news of him rested in the few ships ploughing the water over which his huge Bellanca monoplane chartered its course.

But there was no worry. This afternoon, perhaps, if he is undiscovered or unreported there may be occasion for concern. The early part of today, however, presumably finds the Poland-born American drowsing along 100 miles an hour, over lonesome seas.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon his monoplane was reported seen over Halifax. Two hours later the plane was observed over Sidney, Nova Scotia. This indicated Hausner followed the coastline until he reached the tip of Cape Breton, at which point he is believed to have pointed the nose of his orange-painted plane over the Atlantic.

His destination was Warsaw, Poland. In the event his 525 gallons of gasoline proved insufficient for that 4,375 mile hop, Hausner planned to descend either at London, England, or Paris, France. Should his fuel appear adequate at these cities he planned to circle the fields—Croydon and Le Bourget—and drop packets of letters.

Weather conditions across the Atlantic were favorable when he took off at 8:56 A. M. Eastern Standard Time, Friday. A tail wind favored his plane.

He hoped to make the entire journey in 44 hours' flying time.

HOLDUP VICTIM
PICKS ROBBER
FROM STUDENTS

Unique 'Show-Up' Failed
To Confuse Indiana
Man At Danville

Danville, Ill., June 4.—(AP)—Ten blond college boys walked across the Vermillion county court room for a "show-up" today and out of the group three witnesses picked William H. Blackburn of Oak Park as the hitch-hiker who shot and robbed Russell Gardner of Indianapolis after being given a lift in Gardner's automobile.

Gardner himself, still partly paralyzed from five head wounds but able to walk without aid, was one of those who identified Blackburn. Harry Ludwig and Harry Bauer, linemen for an Indianapolis utility company, also recognized Blackburn. They had heard the shots and turned their spotlight on the youth who raced away in Gardner's car after leaving him wounded.

A former Purdue University student, Blackburn is under bond on a fugitive warrant. Today's "show-up" was to determine whether he is to be extradited to Indiana for trial on robbery and assault charges. DeWitt Stillman represented Governor Emmerson of Illinois and said he would lay the results of the hearing before the Chief Executive. Nine University of Illinois students, all of similar height and complexion, were brought here from Urbana to help determine whether the identification of Blackburn was correct.

Russell Burt, Chicago, attorney for Blackburn argued that Blackburn's pictures have already been shown Gardner and identification of the defendant after seeing his pictures would not be conclusive.

Gardner, Purchasing Agent for the Indiana Highway Commission, was driving from LaPayette to Indianapolis when he picked up the youth carrying a suitcase with a "Purdue" pennant. Near Indianapolis the youth drew a pistol, forced him from the car and shot him.

Similar letters, threatening harm to her 4-year-old son, were received by Mrs. Egon Muller, wife of a German importer.

Both the actress and Mrs. Muller have had guards placed about their homes, while Miss Dietrich also has had iron bars placed on all windows of her home.

For several years he was employed at the Borden condensation where in late years he held the position of foreman of one of the departments. ## CLUB HOUSES BURNED

Two rival organizations who maintained club houses on the city island park, appear to have settled certain differences by destroying their quarters. A few weeks ago one of the club quarters was burned to the ground late in the evening. There had been none of the members present in the building during that day. It was reported Thursday evening about 9 o'clock after the heavy rain storm, the second structure met the same fate. The second conflagration now leaves the island uninhabited insofar as boys' club quarters is concerned.

LEARN OF OLD MEXICO.

About 100 people from Dixon and other parts of northern Illinois assembled at the Hotel Dixon last evening for a dinner and talks and motion pictures of Mexico. The party was held under the auspices of the Resources Corporation International, which owns great timber interests in Mexico and many of last night's guests are shareholders in this company. H. S. Hoover, principal figure in the organization, addressed the gathering, as did Vice President Arnold Joerns and Prof. H. B. Holden of the International Harvester Co. of Chicago, and Wm. Michaelson of Rockford, and others. The four reel travelogue of Old Mexico was extremely interesting.

Similar letters, threatening harm to her 4-year-old son, were received by Mrs. Egon Muller, wife of a German importer.

Both the actress and Mrs. Muller have had guards placed about their homes, while Miss Dietrich also has had iron bars placed on all windows of her home.

MEASURE GOES TO SENATE FOR ACTION MONDAY

The Compromise Bill Will Then Go To President Hoover

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—The new $1,118,500,000 revenue bill neared final enactment today with adoption of the conference report by the House.

Next the Senate must act, and then the compromise bill goes to President Hoover for signing.

House approval was by a vivavoce vote.

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—The Hoover plan to furlough government employees was offered to the Senate today as a substitute for a flat ten per cent pay cut after it had voted down a proposal to exempt salaries below $2,500 from the cut.

The Hoover proposal, rejected by the House which adopted the $2,500 exemption, was put before the Senate by Senator Moses (R., N. H.) Under it government workers would be furloughed without pay for a month of each year.

Action on it was delayed until various other amendments to the ten per cent cut plan have been acted upon.

Among these were proposals for a graded scale of reductions which would exempt the lowest salaries and bear most heavily on the larger ones.

Prospects for fulfillment of the hope expressed by Chairman Jones (R., Wash.), that the bill might be passed today dimmed considerably.

GARNER FORCES BILL

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—The iron hand of party rule clamped down on independent-minded Democrats of the House today, compelling all members of the party to vote for the huge Garner relief program.

It will be taken up Tuesday and probably passed in fairly short order on the strength of the Democratic majority, despite Republican plans to fight it.

The Democrats were bound to the bill last night in party caucus by a majority vote, obtained only by tremendous effort, over spirited opposition of Chairman Byrns, of the Appropriations committee and others.

It was the first time since before the World War that this party rule was imposed on Democratic votes, though Republicans have resorted to it often. The vote in the caucus was 123 to 18, but it is binding on all 219 Democrats. The Republicans have but 211 in the House now, not enough to prevent passage of the bill, but plenty to force abandonment of the original plan to put the bill through Monday without debate under a rule requiring two-thirds majority for passage.

It is not expected that the bill as drawn—it carries $100,000,000 of outright donations for relief of destitution, $1,000,000,000 expansion of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's capital for productive construction loans, and $1,320,000,000 for an expanded federal public works plan—will finally pass Congress.

The Republican-managed Senate, and even its Democratic members, have ideas somewhat closer to those of President Hoover, who wants a $300,000,000 fund for relief loans to the states and a $1,500,000,000 expansion of the Reconstruction unit's loaning power.

Fog Hinders Hunt
For Missing Fliers

St. John's, N. F., June 4.—(AP)—An American airplane piloted by a former Harvard football captain took off today in a search for Arthur Sullivan and Dr. R. Karl Kuehnert, who have been missing in an airplane since Monday.

A thick fog prevented a search over the water, so Charles Hubbard, the former football player, and his Boston companions, Edward T. O'Toole and Harold Crowley searched inland for the missing men who were attached to the Grenfell Mission at St. Anthony's.

Vessels near St. Anthony have reported that a search of the waters failed to develop any trace of the missing men. A strange object was sighted 12 miles west of Groat's Island and the aviators have been trying for several days to investigate that clue but dense fog has prevented them.

Dive Into 4 Feet
Of Water Is Fatal

Harrisburg, Ill., June 4.—(AP)—A dive into four feet of water from a ferry boat, was fatal to Albert Joyner, 18, a Shawneetown high school student, yesterday.

Joyner struck his head on the bottom of the Ohio river. He was pulled from the water by Mrs. Emma Holbrook, and the ferry boat pilot, Frank Sanders, Jr. Artificial respiration was used but he died several hours later.

REVOLUTION IN CHILE: AIR MEN OF ARMY LEAD

Overthrow Of Pres.
Montero Aim of Move
Started Today

Santiago, Chile, June 4.—(AP)—Revolution broke out here today with the Army Air Corps as its nucleus and Carlos Davila, former Ambassador to the United States, as one of the leaders.

A-foot and by air, officers and men of the Air Corps started a march on the Government House to overthrow President Juan Esteban Montero.

Planes flew low over the government building but they dropped no bombs. Volunteer troops said to be 75,000 strong were organized rapidly to resist the attack.

The march on Government house began at about 11 this morning, when cadets of the aviation school at El Bosque, a suburb to the south of the city, joined with several Army regiments and a number of sailors and started for the Capital.

The military police, whose numbers total about 18,000 refused to join the movement immediately, but it was uncertain which way they would throw their support.

As the marchers progressed their numbers increased. The commander of the Santiago garrison, General Carlos Vergara, who sometimes is called the strong man of the Montero government, hurried out to meet the advance to prevent an actual assault on the Capital, but the rebels warned him to keep clear or he would be taken prisoner.

The military police, whose numbers total about 18,000 refused to join the movement immediately, but it was uncertain which way they would throw their support.

ADDITIONAL RAIN
THREATENS FLOOD
DISTRICT IN OKLA.

Six Known Dead, Seven
Missing: Mexican Quakes' Toll

Oklahoma City, June 4.—(AP)—More rain was forecast today for the central Oklahoma flood area, where swollen rivers and creeks, had taken a known toll of six lives, striking hardest in the south part of Oklahoma city.

The crest of the flood, which swept devastatingly through the city early Friday while the people slept, moved on Seminole, Shawnee and other towns in a rich oil area. Seven persons were missing and the injured list reached 30.

Relief workers had moved many families from lowlands and guards watched the sullen waters through the night.

In Oklahoma City more than 3,000 persons were homeless and nearly 700 homes were demolished or made uninhabitable. Most of the flood victims were poor; many lived in tents in the community camp for unemployed. A relief fund had reached $7,500 at midnight.

MEXICO DEAD IN QUAKES
Mexico City, June 4.—(AP)—More than three score persons were known to be dead today and upwards of 100 injured as a result of the series of destructive earthquake shocks which struck Mexico yesterday.

Great damage was done over a wide area and a number of smaller towns were entirely wiped out. Delayed official dispatches from Guadalupe raised the death toll in that vicinity to at least 30. A score of towns were seriously damaged or destroyed.

The towns of Atenguillo and Son Gabriel in the Guadalupe district were wiped out.

Ciudad Guzman was almost demolished and the town of Esperanza was badly damaged. It was impossible to establish communication with the city of Manzanillo.

Other towns which were badly damaged and from which an indefinite number of casualties were reported are Ameca, Mascota, Autlan, Ixtlan, Sayula and Tlajomulco.

BULLETIN
Washington, June 4.—(AP)—Cash bonus advocates today secured the 145 signatures necessary to force a House vote Monday, June 13 on the $2,000,000,000 full payment issue.

Canton, Ohio, June 4.—(AP)—Pennsylvania Railroad detectives and a squad of Stark county detectives, armed with machine guns, were rushed to an icing plant on the Pennsylvania right of way late today to forestall announced attempts of 82 bonus marchers to board an eastbound freight train.

One of the marchers was beaten into unconsciousness and several others fell before a charge by mounted police officers, swinging riot clubs from the saddle.

The group of marchers numbered about 100, part of the main body of about 1,000 men who earlier were gently moved out of the yards by several hundred police reserves after blockading the Pennsylvania main line during the night.

NEEDED: A DOLE SUBSTITUTE.

One out of every four of the 2,700,000 unemployed men in England is no longer fit for normal work.

This bit of news is contained in statistics recently released by the British government. It presents a problem which might well be given some extended consideration on this side of the water.

These jobless men who are below par physically number between 600,000 and 700,000. A United Press cable summarizing the report about them remarks:

"Long idle, they have dropped into a permanent rut, out of which only full-fledged prosperity can rescue them. Their muscles have become soft, their thoughts chronically soured and twisted. Their condition has been likened to shell shock, and some experts now refer to it as 'unemployment shock.'"

This, then, seems to be one of the brightest fruits of England's famous dole policy. We over here are going to have to think more seriously about an American dole, or its equivalent, in the coming year than we ever have before; it might pay us to keep this English object lesson in mind.

And yet it will not be enough for us simply to say, "The dole has tragic results and we want none of it." If things go on as they have been going, we shall assuredly have to have either the dole or something to take its place; and this little object lesson is useful chiefly because it warns us how vitally important it is that we dig up a good substitute.

The dole doesn't work out well. Those 600,000 English sufferers from "unemployment shock" will be a major problem for England for a good many years to come. But the dole does prevent starvation. It is probably fair to say that in England it has prevented a revolution.

If, then, we reach the point at which some sort of government help for the unemployment becomes necessary, it is up to us to profit by England's example and find a better solution than the dole. It may be extremely hard to find one. But it is quite evident that the job must be done.

A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER.

The recent fracas at the Cleveland American League baseball park, in which a group of Chicago White Sox players indulged in a fist attack on umpire George Moriarty, was news because it represented a very rare occurrence; and for that reason it emphasizes the way in which baseball has changed.

Actual physical encounters are rarities in big league baseball these days. The players seldom come to blows with one another. The umpires seldom have to be protected after the game ends.

Yet such things used to be commonplace. A baseball player not only had to be a capable athlete; he had to be handy with his fists as well. The steady patron of a ball park usually could count on seeing at least one good fight a week, if not more.

The game itself hasn't changed. But the conditions under which it is played, and the character of the players, has.

Imagine a boardwalk 20 feet wide, made of brand-new white and yellow planking an inch thick, spanning the space between the earth and the moon. This will visualize simply the total footage of lumber produced in the U. S. in 1930, a year of depression and slack demand.—T. J. Mosley, technical reviewer of the U. S. Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis.

Statesmen alone cannot solve the problems which arise in international affairs. The nations must become accustomed to look to the organized system of the expert report, which gives a just and impartial lead to governments and public opinion and should be regularly accepted just as judicial decisions are accepted as a matter of course.—General Jan Smuts, South African leader.

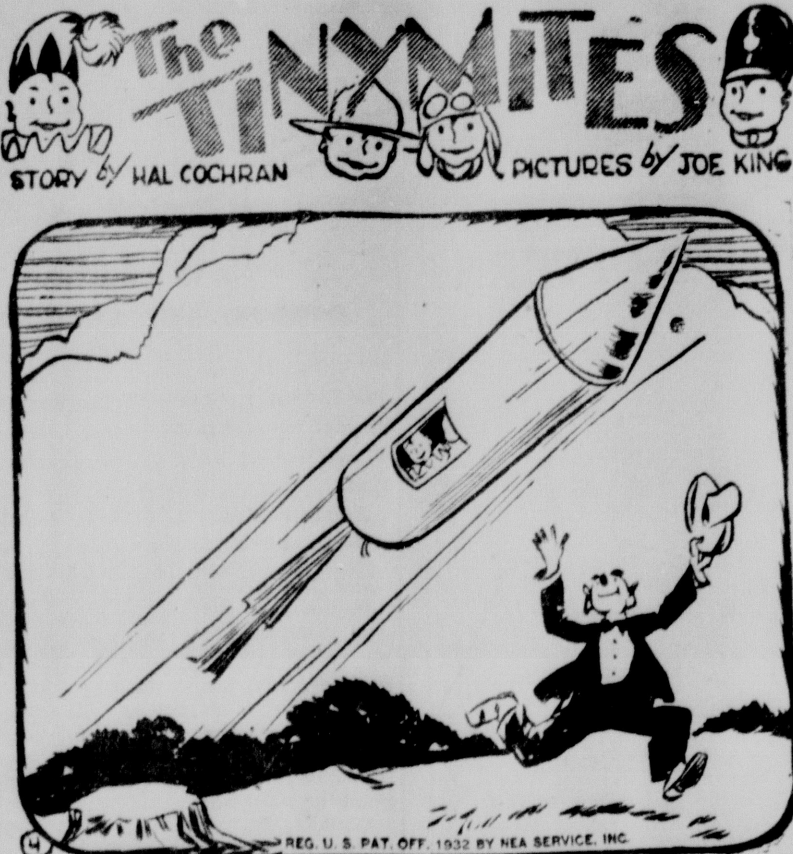

Fascism cannot be Japan's salvation. The majority of the people, while they are dissatisfied with present conditions, do not sympathize with the theory of a Fascist government.—Dr. Inazo Nitobe, noted Japanese liberal, visiting in New York City.

The president has always felt that the people should have the right to vote on whether they desired to change or continue the 18th amendment.—Spokesman for President Herbert Hoover.

We are confessedly the most lawless educated nation in the world, with gangs of criminals, racketeers and gunmen roaming our streets, seemingly more powerful than the police.—A. Caswell Ellis, director of Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

We must come, for a time at least, to the six-hour day and the five-day week and we must come to it by law.—Governor Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania.

We're just a young couple, trying to face the future and forget the past.—Lieut. Thomas H. Massie.

Wee Duncy was the first to climb inside the rocket. What a time! They all were quite excited at the thought of sailing high.

The little rocket cabin was a very dandy place because it had cute little seats in it. Said Duncy, "Me, oh my!"

"We're sailing first-class. This is great! Please hurry, lads! I just can't wait. Be sure and close the window tight, so none will fall out. We'll gaze right through it when we go, so we can see far, far below." And then the happy Tinies heard the rocket owner shout.

"When you are set to go," cried he, "one of you Tinies wave to me, and then I'll light the rocket fuse. You'll whizz off mighty quick." "Of course the fuse will make some noise, but do not let it scare you, boys. 'Twill only flash a minute. Then 'twill fade out very quick."

"By that time you'll be on your way. Now, do exactly as I say. Just close that window very tight and each one take a seat.

"Then wave, as I have said before. That's all you need do. Nothing more! The rest is up to me, you see. And then you'll get a treat."

"I'll be the captain," Duncy cried. "Now that we all are safe inside, I'll pull the little window shut." It didn't take him long.

The other Tinies sat real still, all waiting for a sudden thrill. Then Coppy softly whispered "Gee, I hope that might go wrong."

Then Duncy waved! They heard a whizz! Wee Duncy shouted, "There it is! The rocket's blazing brightly. Everybody keep his place."

And then there came a sudden jerk. The fuse had made the rocket work. Before the Tinies knew it they were sailing out through space. (Copyright, 1932, NEA Service, Inc.)

ALLIED SUCCESS

On June 4, 1918, French and American troops combined staged one of the most bloody battles since the late German offensive began. Massed west of Chateau Thierry, the allied forces beat off repeated attacks of desperate German troops who were mercilessly driven "on to Paris."

In these attacks the Germans suffered severe losses. French and American troops were firmly entrenched, and made no efforts to take any ground. The object seemed to be to take such a heavy toll of lives that the German rank and file would lose its morale.

English troops, also, had a successful day, recovering Thillois, southwest of Rheims.

Soviet Leaders Hail Marching Million

It was a proud moment for the leaders of Soviet Russia who looked on while more than 1,000,000 workers and their children poured into Red Square, Moscow, to stage the country's most impressive May Day demonstration. Disciplined units of demonstrators, like those shown in the upper picture, moved by Nikolai Lenin's tomb in a 100-foot phalanx. Greeting them with smiling faces and waves of their hands were left to right, below: V. M. Molotov, chairman of the Council of People's Commissars; Josef V. Stalin, virtual director of the Soviet regime; G. K. Ordjonikidze, Commissar for Peasants and Workers' inspection; and M. I. Kalinin, chairman of the Central Executive Committee.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth.—Ephesians 4:28.

Wherever there is failure, there is some giddiness, some superstition about luck, some slip, omitted, which Nature never pardons.—Emerson.

Don't delay—avail yourself of one of the Dixon Telegraph's Accident Insurance Policies. The premium for 1 year is $1.25. In case of death your family will receive $1,000. Others have. Again we say do not delay—delays are dangerous.

THE PAGEANTRY IS DRAMATIC

but ACCURACY is Fundamental

COLORFUL, thrilling scenes will be enacted at the national political conventions in Chicago, banners flying, bands playing, delegates shouting. But these are the superficial aspects, the background against which history-making balloting will decide the Presidential candidates.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS dispatches on these conventions will bring to newspaper readers a vivid picture of the pageantry and excitement but that is not all. Expert reporters will write up-to-the-minute, accurate accounts of all vital angles, probe under the surface to interpret authoritatively the significance of each important move, and analyse fairly the ever-changing situations.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS staff is NOT concerned with the fate of candidates or parties, it is interested only in reporting the news, impartially and truthfully. Through unwavering adherence to that principle, "AP" has won world-wide preference.

Murder Trial Foes in New Feud

By a strange coincidence, three figures prominent in the "political murder trial" of David Clark, former deputy district attorney at Los Angeles, are involved in a new court tangle. Clark was acquitted of slaying Herbert Spencer and Charlie Crawford. Ed Dudley, an investigator for the prosecutor, gathered evidence against Clark on the murder charge. Now Clark (left in the inset below) is defense attorney for Frank Clasy. PANGBORN AND HERNDON

By DEXTER TEED

Two old timers sat in front of their shack, in a little valley near Wenatchee, Wash. It was quiet there, then it wasn't quiet. Something was coming over the western mountains, roaring. Something was coming down into their valley. They peered into the distance and saw it.

"That," said one old timer, chewing tobacco, "is an all-fired, funny-looking airplane."

"That," said the other old timer stopping his pipe puffing, "is an airplane all right, but they're no wheels on it for to land."

First Across the Pacific
Then the plane dropped down, scuttled through the sage brush, hurled sand flying, cracked ominously, tilted dangerously and stopped with a shuddering crash.

Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon had made the first non-stop flight over the Pacific ocean.

After flying on the heels of Post and Gatty from New York to London, to Berlin, to Moscow, and across Siberia to Tokyo, they had eventually taken off from Japan for America. Dropping the landing gear to reduce weight, they took a chance of coming down safely—and made it, not far from the spot where Pangborn was born. It was one of the great flights.

It was just another experience for the seasoned Pangborn, daredevil graduate of air circuses, a barnstormer and jack of all air trades. He has flown the startling total of 1,250,000 miles.

Partners Disagree
That flight brought him more fame, but he and Herndon disagreed over division of the $25,000 prize. Herndon, born at Titusville, Pa. once a student at Princeton, is a man of some wealth. He and Pangborn broke off friendly relations after that flight and since then Herndon has dropped out of the spotlight. He spends much of his time flying around New York.

The skill of Pangborn in piloting that monoplane in that dash across the broad Pacific has been recognized, though. He was awarded the Lique Internationale des Aviateurs Trophy, given each year to the flyer who accomplishes the most noteworthy feat in aeronautics. It was brought out at that time that Pangborn, during his long career, has spent 13,500 hours aloft. He is regarded by many as the ace of American aviators.

His great fame has certainly not brought him great wealth. Since October, when the Pacific flight of 4500 miles was completed, he has been flying wherever he can get a job. During the early excitement of the Lindbergh kidnapping case, he flew a plane back and forth to Hopewell, N. J., for a news service.

Odd Jobs of Flight
Much of the time he spends at Newark, N. J., and Teterboro airports, a quiet, likeable man with plenty of friends, whose international reputation hasn't meant ready cash. There are others like him—and there certainly seems left to mourn his departure are: Mrs. Albert McGinnis, Mendota, Ill., Warren and Allen of Independence, Iowa, and Mrs. Clifford Scott of Independence, Iowa, and six grandchildren. Mr. Haley is also survived by three brothers and five sisters, Harry of Great Falls, Mont.; John of Norfolk, Neb.; Oscar of St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Kate Schaefer of Pilger, Neb.; Mrs. Minnie Luke of Norfolk, Neb.; Mrs. Emma Marquette of Pekin, Ill.; and Mrs. Anna Dean of Taopi, Minn., and Mrs. Amelia Pfeiffer of Mantio, Ill.

Mr. Haley was a member of the Evangelical church. He was affiliated with the Masonic order, A. F. & A. M. and with the Royal Arch Masons. Those who were acquainted with Mr. Haley knew him to be a kind and loving father, a good neighbor and a true friend.

Rev. Evan David officiated at the funeral services which were held at the Vaughan chapel in Amboy. Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Shaw, John Vivian, and Mrs. J. L. Richardson sang, accompanied by Mrs. C. A. Ulrich. The Masonic rites were solemnized at the grave the interment being in Woodside cemetery near Lee Center.

PANGBORN HAS FLOWN OVER 1,250,000 MILES—MORE THAN 50 TIMES AROUND THE EARTH

First to fly without stop over the broad Pacific were Hugh Herndon (center left) and Clyde Pangborn (upper right). But when the picture below was taken, as their plane neared the end of the record air voyage the fate of the two adventurers was still in doubt. They'd dropped the landing gear (as the arrow indicates) in order to reduce the plane's weight.

ORGY OF HOMERS AT SHIBE PARK IN YANKEES' VICTORY

Lou Gehrig Carved Himself Permanent Place In Game's Record

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sport Writer
Lou Gehrig, long accustomed to play second fiddle to the one and only Babe Ruth, today had carved himself a place in baseball's permanent record, the result of a home run spree never equalled by his illustrious teammate or by any other big league batsman in the last 38 years.

The Yankees first baseman yesterday crashed four consecutive homers over the right field fence at Shibe Park as his team beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 20 to 13.

Only once before had the feat been equalled. Robert Lowe of the Boston Nationals of 1894 did it. Ed Deleahanty of Philadelphia hit four in one game, but only three were consecutive.

Gehrig's record was not the only one to fall in the wild melee. The Yankees piled up a total of 50 bases on 23 hits and the two clubs had a combined total of 77 bases. The Yanks also equalled the big league record for home runs in a single game, with seven.

Others hit homers. Jimmy Foss hit his nineteenth home run for the A's. Ruth hit fifteen.

The Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns offered a fine contrast in entertainment by fighting 10 innings before "Goose" Goslin cracked a home run that gave the Browns a 2 to 1 victory.

Cleveland went into a tie for third place with Detroit by beating the Tigers twice, 3 to 1 and 10 to 7. Wes Ferrell won his own game with a homer with one on base in the opener.

There was an exciting day in the National League, what with John McGraw passing the torch to Bill Terry and the Boston Braves reducing Chicago's lead to a bare game and a half.

Bob Worthington's timely double in the ninth inning gave the Braves a 6 to 5 verdict over Brooklyn. Hack Wilson blasted his third homer in two days in the third frame.

Tony Piet, youthful second base man, knocked one of Jackie May's slants past the outfielders in the eleventh inning to give Pittsburgh a 6 to 5 victory over the Cubs.

How Congress Solves Depression

There was plenty of legislation on the docket but these athletes just had to have their little baseball game. Here are views of the Democratic All-Stars practicing for their congressional world series with the Republicans. Debate was limited, because Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion, was selected to umpire. On the left, Congressman James M. Mead of New York takes a healthy swing at the ball. Congressman Richard M. Kleberg of Texas is shown in the center shooting his slants over the plate. On the right Congressman William F. Brunner shows how he stops those high, hard ones at third, and in the inset is a closeup of Congressman Thomas McMillan of South Carolina, catcher and captain of the Democrats. The game is scheduled for June 4.

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

The recent rumor that Babe Ruth would be the manager of the Boston Red Sox in 1933 may contain some truth, and more than a little poetry, at that.

It is true that Ruth wants to manage a major league ball club, and that he hardly can hope to play another year with the New York Yankees. Boston would be a logical spot for him to settle down to the business of managing.

But here is more than a little poetry, friends, in Bob Quinn's estimate of the value of the Red Sox. Mr. Quinn, according to our Boston operatives, would sell out the works, including the good will that surely goes with a tail-end ball club, for the modest sum of $1,750,000. If that isn't poetry, Shakespeare was a Bowers barber.

HE TELLS WHY—

But if you were Bob Quinn, you would be willing to sell, too, even though your ideas of the value of the Red Sox might not be as romantic as Bob's. Not only willing but anxious, perhaps.

"I have been here about nine years now," Quinn said the other day, "and I have done everything here that I did in other cities where I was so successful in conducting baseball (that would be Columbus, O. and St. Louis, Mo.) I have bought any number of players that other clubs were after, and these players have all failed to come through."

"My luck has gone back on me. I was 17 years with the Columbus ball club and never had to call off a Sunday game through bad weather. Then in the six years I was with the Browns, I only lost two Sundays. This spring I already have lost two important Sundays and the weather on the holiday was poor enough to hurt."

"I had my third base stand burn down and couldn't rebuild it because of a change in the law. I had a ball player (Big Ed Morris) killed. I have had almost every kind of hard luck happen to me since I've come to Boston that could befoul one man."

THE OLD COLLEGE TRY—

"If I do not have to leave Boston without having put a winner here, I will not have to berate myself for not having tried. I have tried everything I could."

Ten Years Ago Today—New York defeated Brooklyn 5 to 4 in a ninth inning rally staged before 30,000 persons, the largest Ebbets Field crowd in history. Ross Young singled in the ninth with the bases full, driving in the tying runs. Casey Stengel's sacrifice fly scored the winning tally.

RETIREMENT OF McGRAW A SHOCK TO SPORTS WORLD

His Nomination Of His Successor Also Unexpected Move

By HERBERT W. BARKER

Associated Press Sports Writer
New York, June 4—(AP)—The "Little Napoleon" of the National League, John Joseph McGraw, has resigned as manager of the New York Giants and turned over the reins to the younger hands of Bill Terry, thereby giving the baseball world a double-barrelled shock from which it will not soon recover.

Central figure in hundreds of baseball sensations, product of the days when fists and the ability to use them were necessary adjuncts to a player's equipment, McGraw, at 59, has made his exit in a fashion even more spectacular than any of the exploits that made him so feared and respected a rival.

As if his terse announcement that he health made it advisable for him to relinquish his managerial duties after 30 years, was not enough, he further stunned official circles by nominating Terry as his successor.

For some years it had been understood that he was grooming his first lieutenant, Dave Bancroft, for the task of carrying on with the Giants when McGraw himself should elect to step out.

Terry, a "Detritment"

Terry, on the other hand, frequently had annoyed club officials by his spring holdout activities. Only this winter, Charles A. Stoneham, Giants' president, called him a "detritment to the club." Terry had balked over taking a 40 per cent slash in salary and Stoneham was more than a little irked.

McGraw leaves the Giants, oddly enough, just where they were when he first joined them—in last place. When he came to New York in 1902 he found the Giants in the cellar, a hopelessly disorganized outfit. Within two weeks he had cut the roster from 24 to 14 players. When President Andrew Friedman remonstrated that he was ruining the club, McGraw tartly replied that he could finish in last place "just as easily with 14 players as with 24."

Within two years he had developed a team that in 30 years was to win for him ten National League pennants and three world series, finish second ten times and wind up in the second division only twice.

The Giants now have the youngest manager in the National League but there is little danger any of them will attempt to take advantage of Bill Terry.

Has Mind Of Own

The big fellow from Memphis is only 33 but he has a mind of his own and he doesn't hesitate to speak it. He will be manager of the Giants, right up to the hilt. The first thing he did when he succeeded McGraw was to post a notice to that effect in the club house. Then he called in the players, many of them his teammates for years and had a thorough understanding.

"I told them that from here on they take orders from me and I took them. I told them I was going to ease up on some of the strict rules we've had and give them a chance to play ball for me and get out of the basement. If they can't do that there will be some changes."

Terry's elevation was a complete surprise to him. He never has, strictly speaking, been a member of the "McGraw school." He and the veteran manager were known to have had the disagreements, and no later than this spring McGraw was forced to make a special trip to reconcile Terry to his 1932 contract.

Liked Fighters

McGraw, however, always has admired a fighter and it perhaps was only natural he should think of the big first baseman when he decided to step down.

Terry admits he is full of ideas but he isn't yet ready to make any radical decisions. He intends to make some trades before the deadline June 15 and admitted there were "two players" he would have to let go. He didn't give their names.

Originally a left-handed pitcher, Terry had extensive experience in the minors before he finally settled with the Giants as a first baseman the latter part of 1923. He was the property of Atlanta in 1914 and 1915 but did not play. His first real appearance was with Shreveport of the Texas League in '16 and '17, as a combination pitcher-outfielder. From '18 to '21, the records show, he played independent ball, coming back into the organized fold in 1922 with Toledo.

He even managed that club for a time in '23 and, as he admitted today, "did pretty well with it."

Terry was a fair hitter for the Giants from the start, but it was not until 1929 that he joined the front rank of sluggers with an average of .372. The next year he led the league with .401 but, with the advent of the less lively ball, dropped off last season to .349. Chick Hafey, then, of the Cardinals beat him out for the batting championship by the narrowest of margins. The last averages had him hitting .314 for the present race with 11 home runs.

Don't delay—avail yourself of one of the Dixon Evening Telegraph's Accident Insurance Policies. The premium for 1 year is $1.25. In case of death your family will receive $1,000. Others have. Again we say do not delay—delays are dangerous.

Win Nippon's Olympic Test

Selochire Tsuda—Seiji Takahashi—Tanji Yahagi. On the island of cherry blossoms and little brown men that means first, second and third places in a race of 26 miles 385 yards, the marathon test for Japan in the 1932 Olympic games in Los Angeles. Tsuda, left, Takahashi, center and Yahagi, right, finished in that order, the first two runners making better time than the best known Olympic record for the marathon distance.

What Averages Of Big Leagues Show This Week

New York, June 4—(AP)—Some new challenges for the leaders of the major league batting races turned up this week but they couldn't do serious damage to the grip the leaders held on their first place honors.

Although both dropped a few points, Jimmie Foss of the Athletics and Paul Waner of the Pirates continued to set the hitting pace and Foss and Chuck Klein of the Phillies fought it out for the all-around slugging honors.

Foss lost 31 points through the week which ended yesterday but wound up with a .415 mark while Waner barely stuck to the .400 class as he dropped five points and wound up at .401.

Ernie Lombardi, clouting Cincinnati catcher, picked up enough times at bat to win a regular's rating and took second place in the National League at .387, while Chick Hafey, his teammate, slipped off 31 points to .369 and barely held third safe from new assaults of Don Hurst of Philadelphia and Mel Ott of New York, who captured the next two notches at .358 and .356.

In the American League Bill Dickey of the Yankees and his mate, Tony Lazzeri, exchanged places, finishing with marks of .369 and .357, while a Yankee newcomer to the first five, Earl Combs, followed at .356 and Gerald Walker of Detroit had a .345 mark.

Other National League leaders were Stephenson, Chicago, .348; Klein, Phillies, .346; Critz, New York, .341; Moore, Chicago, .333; and Whitney, Philadelphia, .328. The second American League quintet consisted of Fothergill, Chicago, .327; Gehrig, New York .326; Averill, Cleveland, .324; Levey, St. Louis, .319; and Gehring, Detroit, .317.

Foss and Klein held similar positions in the slugging circles of their leagues with honors about even. The Athletic slugger had four firsts with 50 runs, 56 runs batted in; 68 hits and 19 home runs. Klein led in three departments with 54 runs, 46 runs batted in and 13 homers and shared the base stealing lead for both leagues with Frisch of the Cardinals. Blue of the White Sox and Johnson of the Tigers, they had topped eight apiece. The Phillie league with 65 base hits and eight ace also had two seconds in his triples.

151 DIXON HIGH GRADUATES ARE GIVEN DIPLOMAS

Annual Commencement Exercises Held At Assembly Park

The largest class ever to be graduated from the Dixon high school and the thirteenth commencement exercises to be held in the Assembly park auditorium drew a large assemblage of parents and friends to the auditorium last evening. The big building was almost filled despite the threatening skies which appeared a short time before the program was scheduled to begin.

The program opened with the invocation by Rev. Lloyd W. Walter, pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran church. The girls' glee club was next heard in their number, "Tribute to Summer." Wilbur Currens in a very able manner eloquently presented his oration, "Education and the School." Miss Gladys Ortgiesen in her clever and pleasing manner presented a resume of school life from the first day in the country school to the graduation from the high school, her subject being, "Reminiscences." The boys' glee club were heard in "Pale in the Amber West."

Prof. Lyman, professor of the teaching of English in the University of Chicago, who delivered the commencement address to Dixon graduating classes, four, eight and twelve years ago, and who has been a member of the faculty of his university for 30 years, very ably presented his interesting address, using as his subject, "The Nobility of Democracy."

He told his listeners that the individual right of men and women which formed the bedrock of democracy was in danger. He called attention to the spread of Communism and despotism in Europe and the infringement upon the rights of civilization and the disintegration of church and religion in Russia. The competition of individuals, which is being carried to extremes, must be modified, the speaker said, in order that citizens may retain their hold on individualism. A point has been reached where civilization must change.

Prof. Lyman very clearly defined the lives of the graduates as forming five great pillars and his explanation of four of these, those outstanding American citizens as being ideals of the characteristics. Integrity was the first of the pillars as depicted in the life of Gen. John J. Pershing. Unselfishness as displayed in the life of Miss Jane Addams, was the second pillar. Intelligence as portrayed in the life and activity of Thomas A. Edison, was the third.

The dynamic force executed by the late President Theodore Roosevelt was the fourth chief pillar, and the fifth, was the power to serve, which ideal, the speaker stated, was to be found in the lives of all of the four characters.

"These principals will make a democracy noble and it is not safe if it is not noble," Prof. Lyman said in his conclusion.

Diplomas Presented
Superintendent I. B. Potter, who presented the diplomas to the class announced that last evening's event marked the thirteenth commencement to be held in the Assembly auditorium. During this time the graduating class had numbered as low as 66 members, but last evening's class numbered 151 students, which marked the record in the history of the Dixon high school. During the 13 years the commencement exercises have been held in the auditorium, Prof. Potter stated that 1,495 students had received their diplomas in that structure.

In commenting upon the record class of 1932, Superintendent Potter stated that contrary to the general belief of world wide depression, the size of the 1932 class of graduates indicated the depression had not been felt in the Dixon high school and that the business outlook was for increased and better business in that institution.

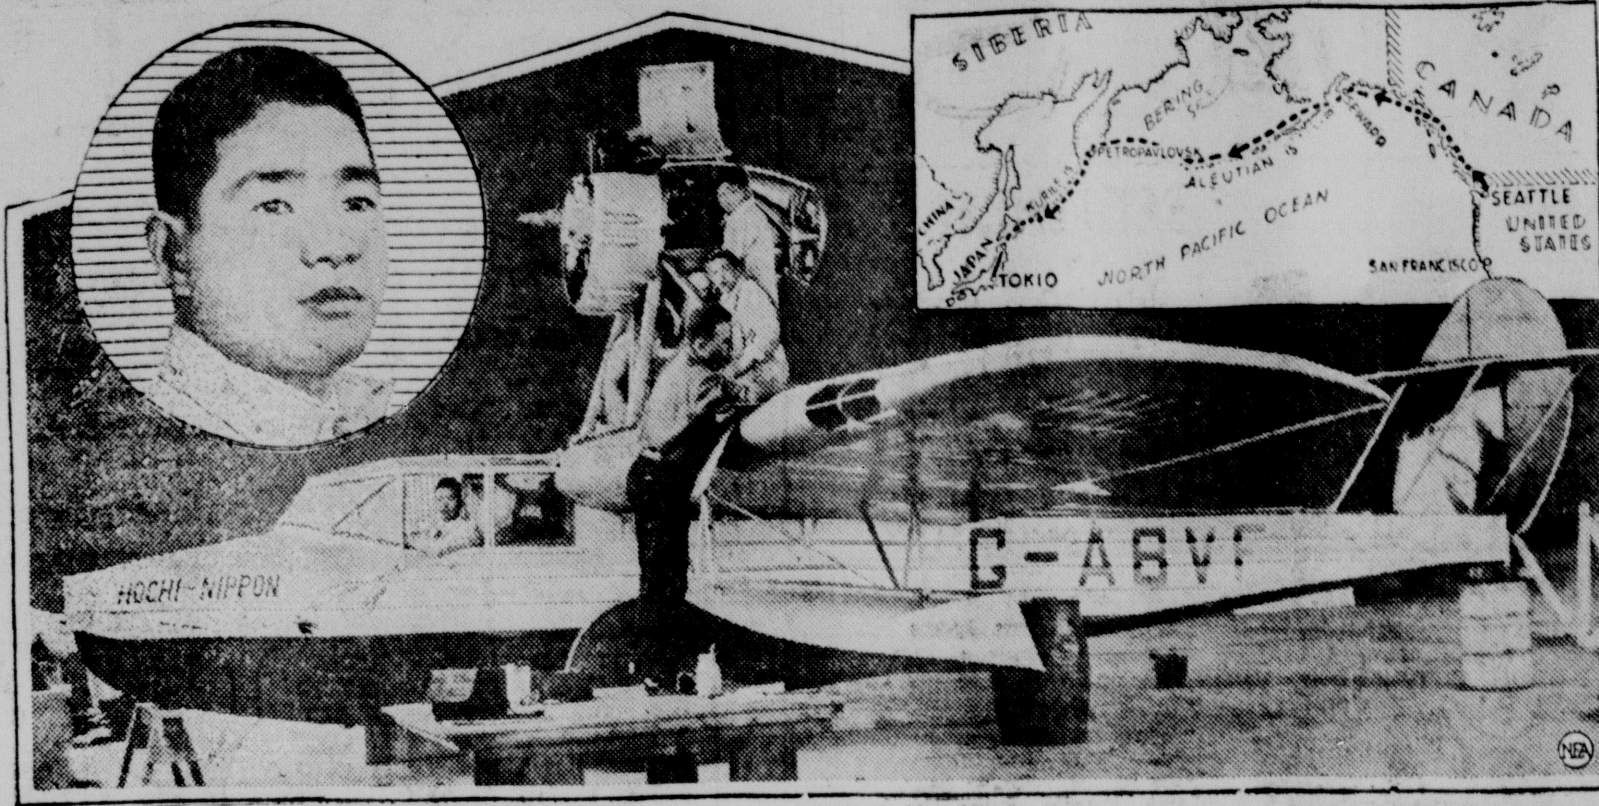

Rev. J. Franklin Young, pastor of the First Presbyterian church pronounced the benediction which concluded the fine commencement program.

Tax Problems In This State

By M. H. HUNTER

36. The Per Inmate Expenditure of State Institutions.

The expenditures for public welfare averaged 18 per cent of the total sum expended by the state for a period of ten years. It is important to note that the amount spent in dollars increased 64 per cent from 1921 to 1930.

One of the reasons for the large increase in expenditures for social welfare was the increase in the number of patients and inmates at the different state institutions. In 1921 the state public welfare population amounted to 26,963. From this period on, the population steadily increased so that in 1929, the number was 36,900. This was an increase of almost 10,000 or 37 per cent in nine years. Furthermore, there were large increases in the number of clients at the ear and eye infirmaries, while the research hospital, which started operating in 1924, has also had increasing numbers each year.

The most significant relationships between expenditures and inmates are brought out when the costs per inmate or patient are compared for the different years. In the hospitals for the insane and the feeble-minded, the average per inmate costs, exclusive of depreciation costs of buildings, were $288 per year in 1921 and $327 per year in 1929. As to the individual hospitals, the fluctuations from the average were not great, and all of them showed a decided tendency to increase the individual costs in the period 1927 to 1929. As to the penal group, the average per inmate costs for the years, 1921 and 1929 were $380 and $393, respectively. The tendency here was for the average costs to decrease from 1921 to 1926 and to increase rapidly after 1926. The greatest cost per inmate was in the case of the women's penal group. The cost of taking care of the women prisoners was approximately double that of the men. The cost per individual in the reformatories was $540 per person per year. As to the costs per pupil in the schools for the deaf and the blind and the cost of caring for the veterans of the different wars, there was a fluctuation from year to year, but the trend as a whole was toward increases, especially in the years 1928 and 1929.

When Flyers Dared Glacier in Alaskan Rescue

Landing on the perilous slopes of Muldrow glacier, 6000 feet above sea level on Mount McKinley, Alaska, an Alaskan plane of the American Airways lines rescued survivors of a party of scientists and located two of the three bodies of other climbers. Picture shows Pilot Joe Crosson, operations manager of the Alaskan Airways, after landing on the glacier to pick up E. L. Beckwith, third from left, who was ill. Percy Olton, Jr., extreme left, survived, but Nicholas Spadavecchia second from left, later perished. Allen Carpe and Theodore Koven, forming another expedition to study cosmic rays, were lost.

Community advertising addresses itself to the tourist, homemaker, investor, manufacturer, and farmer.

Most everybody believes in respect being shown for old age. The sentiment is right and a useful one, although mainly to the extent that the younger party recognizes the fortitude of the older party in adding what he has to the foundations of wisdom and knowledge and to the extent that the respect rendered is also a recognition of the inevitability with which the youth of one day is the old age of tomorrow.

Quite surprising how daylight sports and events can be held at night nowadays by the aid of searchlights, floodlights and spotlights being set at various parts of the ground, making the field so clear that every unit taking part is distinctly seen.

You should never lose an opportunity to let the outside world know the good things about your city.

Some contend that when times are had every opportunity should be taken to cease work, cut down wages, discharge men and stop production, and through such efforts bring back better times. This, they think, is economy. While others maintain that in order to bring back normal times we must reduce every energy in every direction toward getting better markets and more money in circulation.

Spasmodic advertising does not bring the results that can be obtained by continuous advertising.

Telephones are nearly as necessary to a business as advertising. The use of a telephone can help to build business, as well as to destroy it. When complaints are made over the telephone, courteous answers will smooth out many misunderstandings, while discourteous answers can lose more business than can be regained in many a day.

It is said that a lot of cities would progress faster if a number of its citizens would take a ship and when in mid-ocean, jump overboard.

By advertising, the desire to possess is created in the minds of those who have the money to buy.

Paved gardens, made of cinder blocks a few inches thick and nine or ten inches wide are predicted for the future. Plants would grow in spaces between the blocks.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—The suggestion of Senator Dave Reed of Pennsylvania that congress stick on the job in Washington while the national political conventions are in full swing came as a jolt to many of the gentlemen on the hill.

But what can they do about it? However much they might enjoy attending the conventions, and there are many of them who regard a national convention as the grandest holiday imaginable, there is no escaping the fact that they can't afford to leave Washington in the country in the fix it is in at present.

Senators and congressmen are well aware that even now the delay in balancing the budget is costing the country millions each day and the thought of permitting the fiscal year to close June 30th with the government in such a state of financial bewilderment as it would be if they fail to take the necessary steps sends cold shivers up and down the spine of perhaps the bravest of them.

Eyes On Chicago

Yet the idea of missing the show at Chicago, to many of them, seems unthinkable. Some senators head their state delegations. Others are delegates, and either publicly or privately have important political concerns at Chicago.

And the number is not limited merely to Senators Barkley and Dickinson, the two convention key-noters, or Representative Snell probable permanent chairman of the republican convention. There are several "favorite sons" on the hill, many of them with a longing in their hearts to be the second man on the ticket.

Then there is the matter of the platform to be reckoned with. Prohibition, for example, looms as a troublesome issue at both the republican and democratic conventions.

They'll Be There

In event of such a fight, can you imagine, for example, a man like Senator Borah of Idaho not being around in the neighborhood of the platform committee?

A senator or congressman who has political concern—large or small—in the coming conventions is going to Chicago in June unless he is absolutely hog-tied in Washington.

THE ANEMIAS

The term anemia indicates an abnormal condition of the blood involving the red blood cells and their hemoglobin content.

There are several varieties of anemia, differentiated one from the other according to whether the abnormality affects the number of red blood cells found in a cubic millimeter of blood, or whether the abnormality is in the hemoglobin content of the blood cells, or in both.

The work of Drs. Minot and Murphy in the treatment of pernicious anemia with liver has opened a new and brilliant chapter in what is termed internal medicine.

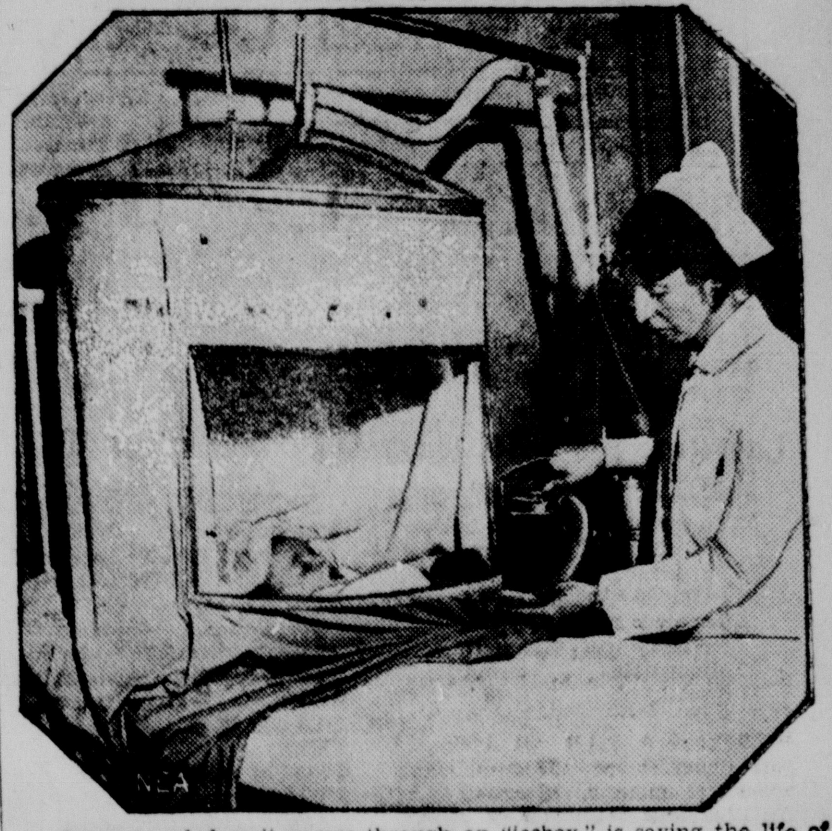

Much light has been shed upon the effects of the stomach digestive process on blood production. The origin of various types of anemia thus has been cleared up.

Incidentally, scientific justification has been forthcoming for the treatments which have been empirically followed for many years. Iron, long a remedy in anemia, has now been stamped with scientific approval.

Our studies have revealed to us that normal stomach digestion influences blood regeneration.

It appears that the normal gastric juice, acid in reaction, can abstract from proteins (meats) of animal origin a substance which stimulates the production of blood, and it has been found that in various types of anemia there is

Roosevelt Says It

Is Up To Seabury

Albany, N. Y., June 3.—(AP)—Gov. Roosevelt said today that it was the duty of the legislative committee and Samuel Seabury to make charges against Mayor Walker, "if they believe they have sufficient cause" without waiting to make formal report to the next legislature.

The Governor's statement was an answer to published reports that Seabury, the committee's counsel, intended to hold up formal charges against the Mayor of New York to give time for Governor Roosevelt to act on his own initiative.

Boa constrictors are not poisonous. Although they can inflict severe wounds with their teeth the bite usually heals quite rapidly. The teeth are used mainly to catch and hold prey, and are pointed backward. Boas devour their prey whole, but not until they have first crushed out all life by wrapping their great coils around the victim's body. Because of the peculiar construction of the jaw, a boa constrictor can swallow an object four times the normal diameter of its throat.
